Adrienne Angelo
Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in French from Emory University. She specializes in 20th and 21st century women's writing in France and North Africa, and French and Francophone cinema.

Emily C. Friedman
Department of English, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in English from the University of Missouri. She specializes in 18th century British literature.

Chase Bringardner
Department of Theatre, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in Theatre History and Criticism from the Performance as Public Practice Program at The University of Texas at Austin. He specializes in popular entertainments and southern identity studies.

Makiko Mori
Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Modern Chinese Literature from the University of California, Los Angeles. She specializes in modern Chinese literature and culture.

Stacey L. Hunt
Department of Political Science, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Political Science from Rutgers University. She specializes in comparative politics, with an emphasis on Latin America and gender.

Kelly Kennington
Department of History, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in History from Duke University. She specializes in Early America (1800–1860), the U.S. South, Legal history and African American history.

Erich Nunn
Department of English, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in English Language and Literature from the University of Virginia. He specializes in American Studies, the U.S. South, Cultural Studies and Critical Theory.

Rosetta Caponetto
Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Italian Studies from the University of Connecticut. She specializes in Italian literature and cinema of the Fascist period, Italian Colonialism in the Horn of Africa, African Diaspora literature and film in Italy and blaxploitation cinema.

Derek Ross
Department of English, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in Technical Communication and Rhetoric from Texas Tech University. He specializes in Rhetoric of Science and Environmental Rhetoric.

Alan D. Meyer
Department of History, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in History from the University of Delaware. He specializes in History of Technology and Aviation History.

Mark Sheftall
Department of History, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in History from Duke University. He specializes in War and Society.

Pheyllisa Mitchell
Department of Communication and Journalism, Assistant Professor
She received her J.D from Washington & Lee School of Law. She specializes in First Amendment Law, news reporting and race and religion in media.

Michael Steele
Department of Psychology, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in Clinical Child Psychology from the University of Kansas. He specializes in pediatric psychology with an emphasis on pediatric obesity intervention.

Arianne Gaetano
Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Anthropology from the University of Southern California. She specializes in contemporary Chinese society, gender and migration.

Arianna Wilson
Department of Theatre, Assistant Professor
She received her MFA in Choreography and Performance from the State University of New York, Brockport. She specializes in modern/contemporary dance technique, rhythm tap, fusion of modern/contemporary dance with rhythm tap and movement analysis studies.

Phyllisa Mitchell
Department of Communication and Journalism, Assistant Professor
She received her J.D from Washington & Lee School of Law. She specializes in First Amendment Law, news reporting and race and religion in media.

Danilea Werner, PhD
Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work
She specializes in researching and publishing in service-learning.

Angela Ware
Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Sociology from the American University. She specializes in women’s studies, minority health and program evaluation.

Kristen Haring
Department of Communication and Journalism, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Philosophy with an emphasis in Communication Studies from the University of Kansas. She specializes in researching and publishing in service-learning.

Erich Nunn
Department of English, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in English Language and Literature from the University of Virginia. He specializes in American Studies, the U.S. South, Cultural Studies and Critical Theory.

Chase Bringardner
Department of Theatre, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in Theatre History and Criticism from the Performance as Public Practice Program at The University of Texas at Austin. He specializes in popular entertainments and southern identity studies.

Makiko Mori
Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Modern Chinese Literature from the University of California, Los Angeles. She specializes in modern Chinese literature and culture.

Stacey L. Hunt
Department of Political Science, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Political Science from Rutgers University. She specializes in comparative politics, with an emphasis on Latin America and gender.

Kelly Kennington
Department of History, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in History from Duke University. She specializes in Early America (1800–1860), the U.S. South, Legal history and African American history.

Erich Nunn
Department of English, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in English Language and Literature from the University of Virginia. He specializes in American Studies, the U.S. South, Cultural Studies and Critical Theory.

Rosetta Caponetto
Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Italian Studies from the University of Connecticut. She specializes in Italian literature and cinema of the Fascist period, Italian Colonialism in the Horn of Africa, African Diaspora literature and film in Italy and blaxploitation cinema.

Derek Ross
Department of English, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in Technical Communication and Rhetoric from Texas Tech University. He specializes in Rhetoric of Science and Environmental Rhetoric.

Alan D. Meyer
Department of History, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in History from the University of Delaware. He specializes in History of Technology and Aviation History.

Mark Sheftall
Department of History, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in History from Duke University. He specializes in War and Society.

Pheyllisa Mitchell
Department of Communication and Journalism, Assistant Professor
She received her J.D from Washington & Lee School of Law. She specializes in First Amendment Law, news reporting and race and religion in media.

Michael Steele
Department of Psychology, Assistant Professor
He received his PhD in Clinical Child Psychology from the University of Kansas. He specializes in pediatric psychology with an emphasis on pediatric obesity intervention.

Arianne Gaetano
Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work, Assistant Professor
She received her PhD in Anthropology from the University of Southern California. She specializes in contemporary Chinese society, gender and migration.

Arianna Wilson
Department of Theatre, Assistant Professor
She received her MFA in Choreography and Performance from the State University of New York, Brockport. She specializes in modern/contemporary dance technique, rhythm tap, fusion of modern/contemporary dance with rhythm tap and movement analysis studies.