Cade Cannon
Department of Sociology, Anthropology, & Social Work
Cannon is currently a doctoral candidate in cultural anthropology at the University of Washington in Seattle. His research interests include religious experience, memory, and the politics of science.

Alicia Almada
Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures
Almada received her Master of Hispanic Studies from Auburn University. She also holds a master's degree in Sociology from Virginia Tech. She is interested in Second Language Acquisition and Hispanic American Poetry.

Keri Muñoz
Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures
Muñoz received her PhD from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Her research focuses on 20th and 21st Century Central American Literature with particular interest in the narration of the various revolutions.

Viviane Kouna
Department of Foreign Languages & Literature, French
Kouna received her PhD in French and Francophone Literature from the Universities of Limoges, France and Abidjan-Cocody, Ivory Coast. Her research is concerned with French and Francophone women identities, their literary situation and treatment.

Victor Villanueva
Department of English, Professor and Chair
He received his PhD, master's and bachelor's degrees in English from the University of Washington. Villanueva has authored, edited or co-edited numerous books, articles, and chapters. All of his efforts have centered on the connections between language and racism.

Kelli Watts
Department of Communication Disorders, Assistant Clinical Professor
Watts received her Doctor of Audiology degree from Auburn University. She will be training clinical doctoral students and specializes in areas of balance assessment and tinnitus (or ringing in the ear).

Anja Werth
Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures
Received Magister Artium in Cultural Anthropology, American Studies and German as a Foreign Language from the University of Leipzig, Germany and a MEd from Carthage College, Wisconsin. Research interests include the use of media (especially film and comics) in the language classroom and language pedagogy.

We also welcome Josh Kelley Pifer, PhD, to the Department of Music.